

#203 November 26, 1776

Letter to Amitai from Tabitha Hunt, Jaffrey (N.H.)

Jaffrey Nov^r 26 1776 me is Amitai ^{after} my kind Love to you I take this opportunity as a pleasure to write to you hoping these lines will find you well as they leave me I would inform you that ~~we~~ I ^{got} home well remember my Love to all your sisters and all inquiring friends I have nothing straining to right to you only that Maty Lewis is out published to one Benjamin newmans and mr philbrook I expect will be cried next sabbath unto one Betty Cutter who is now his maid but intended wife as is supposed Salvenus porter is dead and Joseph his brother lays exceeding bad no body expects his life mr Crummy has lost his youngest Child I have nothing ~~more~~ more to tell you only that your mate are all well I hope you will send me a letter the first time you can mother remembers her Love to you and pray excuse my righting and poor inditing so I must conclude with telling you that I remain your Loving friend and mate Tabitha Hunt

Jeffrey Nov^r 26 1776

[illegible] Amitai after my kind love to you I take this opportunity as a pleasure to write to you hoping these lines will find you well as they leave me I would inform you that ~~we~~ ~~we~~ I ^{got} home well remember my love to all your sisters and all inquiring friends, I have Nothing straining to right to you only that Maty Lewis is out published to one Benjamin newman and mr philbrook I expect will be cried next sabbath unto one betty Cutter who is now his maid but inteded wife as is supposed Salvenus porter is dead and Joseph his brother lays exceding bad no body expect his life mr Cruny[?] has lost his youngest child I have nothing more to tell you only that your mate are all well I hope you will send me a letter the first] time you can mother remembers her love to you and pray excuse my righting and poor inditing so I must conclude with telling you I remain your loving friend and mate

The Lane Family Papers

Bedford Historical Society

Tabitha Hunt