At our March meeting we were delighted to honor Bedford High School students who won in the Massachusetts History Day contest. All will move on to the National History Day competition in June. Louisa won first place with her individual documentary on Robert Oppenheimer. Jake, Shreyas, Sean and Dylan collaborated on video on J.P. Morgan that won second place in the group documentary category.

Dinner and a show

We finish our annual lecture series with the finest potluck dinner in Bedford (note the groaning board above – and that’s before the desserts came out), followed by a talk by Bedford’s very own Mike Rosenberg. Whether you know him as a hard-working Selectman, as a writer of delightful profiles of Bedford people, as a colleague or as a friend, you know that Mike is always an engaging speaker. Mike will give us some of his thoughts on our favorite little town.

All are welcome. Please bring the dish of your choice with enough to serve 8. If you are not sure what to bring, just remember that it is always better to have too many main dishes than too many desserts. Questions? Call us at 781-275-7276. (We would like to thank the members of the telephone committee who will be phoning all our members about the party.)

In memoriam

They brought us freedom some 234 years ago. That’s why we still watch the Minutemen every April when they reenact those historic events. One of those freedom fighters was a Bedford Minuteman, Neil Hill, who tragically passed away on April 19, 2010 while marching toward Concord as a Minuteman. A beautiful memorial service was held in his honor at the North Bridge, where family, friends, Minutemen and the BHS showed their respects. Neil was one of ours, a long-time member of the society, before he and his family moved away from Bedford.

Recent donations

Warmest thanks for recent contributions from our friends:

- The Bedford Garden Club
- Norma Warner
- Paul and Andrea Couvéé
- Gabriele and Angelo Colao
- Shirley and Roy Kring

We are also grateful to all those - too many to list here - who have purchased tickets to our Fitch Tavern party in June, the biggest fundraising event ever held by the Society. (And if you haven’t got your tickets yet, please turn to page 3 for information.)

New members join us

If you join the Bedford Historical Society nowadays you’re guaranteed not to be the “new kid in school” very long. New memberships just keep on coming in. We gained the following members since last month’s edition of The Preservationist:

- Anne Raffaele
- Stephen Ellen
- Kara Kerwin and Geoff Charron

A hearty welcome to them all!
Another great season

THANK YOU!

Another great season for the Bedford Historical Society is closing. It has been an exciting year; we have grown with a considerable number of new members, and have created an invaluable awareness about our society. Members are the building stones who make all our programs possible. We also had an increased number of visitors enjoying our monthly lectures, which proves that historic tales and facts about our town have broad interest. On behalf of the BHS, I would like to thank all our members and anyone else who is excited by this old town for their continuing support.

Much of what we accomplish is made possible because of the numerous boards and committees who have daily control over many aspects of the Society - whether it is the Hospitality Committee members who make sure that “hot coffee and goodies” warmly welcome guests at our regular meetings or our Finance Committee whose members make sure that our money is wisely spent and our investments make a healthy return. As one can imagine, they all have a bit grayer hair from the financial turmoil the country has experienced during the last few years. “Invest or sell?” They deserve a standing ovation for keeping us afloat.

For many months, the Bylaw Committee has worked hard to update the Society’s bylaws, while the ad hoc Dues Committee has been working tirelessly on our dues structure. Although it is with great reluctance, we are advocating a modest increase to cover the ever-rising costs to run our office and the archives. We are also working on a long term strategic plan for the society. This is a work in progress that can be updated as needed, and it will help us to work on specific goals for the future.

A number of challenges lie ahead. We all have a dream to one day open the doors of a modest museum in order to display some of the thousands of the ever-growing number of historic relics now in storage.

On June 19th, we will hold the society’s first major fundraising event. The owners of the famous Fitch Tavern will open their home to the BHS to host a grand party, just one more great occasion presented by your society.

Finally, we hope soon to bring the Friends of the Bedford Flag under the umbrella of the BHS. This will give us the opportunity to help promote the oldest existing flag in the United States. It will also add some exciting merchandise to our already large collection of products for sale.

Whether we work together on a daily basis or we only meet occasionally, I thank all of you. You are all exceedingly important to the Bedford Historical Society!

Jan van Steenwijk

Fitch Tavern party tickets going quickly

Votes on the agenda for our Annual Meeting

Following the Potluck Supper, the May 26th Annual Meeting will consider three important topics as part of a brief business meeting.

Elections

Members will be asked to vote on the Nominating Committee’s slate of Officers for the 2010-2011 program year: Jan van Steenwijk for President; Julia Whiteneck for Vice President; Phyllis Cooke for Secretary, and Don Corey for Treasurer. Votes also will be sought confirming the Nominating Committee’s candidates for Directors to serve through 2014: Marion Bryan, Donald Jenkins, and Robert Slechta.

Bylaws updates

Minor changes to the Society’s bylaws have been identified over the course of this year. A summary of the proposed updates appears on page 7. The ad-hoc Bylaws Committee will respond to any questions (c/o Judie Como Toti, jntot@verizon.net, or 781.275.3120).

Dues increase

The ad-hoc Dues Committee has reviewed the dues amounts which have remained constant since 2000. During this same period Society income has increased modestly and expenses have increased considerably. Current annual dues income of about $3,500 covers less than 10% of Society expenses (over $36,000). The Committee recommends the following dues increase effective September 1, 2010:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Category</th>
<th>Current</th>
<th>Proposed</th>

<tr>
<td>Student</td>

Along with aggressive fundraising undertaken by the Society’s leadership team, the Society’s investment income, and donations to the Society (bequests, memorial gifts, etc.), the new dues levels will help to lower the annual funding shortfall. The committee recommends delaying the dues increase until September 1, 2010 to provide sufficient time for Society members to renew at the current dues rates. Questions? Contact our Treasurer, Don Corey (cmcofficeuse@aol.com or 781.275.6225).

It’s spring! Dues are due

If you are an Annual member, your dues are due by the end of May. You may clip the form on page 9 and send it to us with your check or bring a check to our Annual Meeting on May 26.

Not sure how you stand with your dues? Check the mailing label on the back of this newsletter. It will tell you when your current dues expire. Several of our members have paid more than a year in advance, so check the expiration date carefully. You might not owe any dues for another year.

Questions? Please don’t hesitate to phone our office. We will gladly look up your account for you.

Thank you for your payment! Our dues are very modest but very important to us. We appreciate the support of our many wonderful members.

The Lanes and their transatlantic trade

Note: This is the second of a series on the Society’s collection of Lane Family Papers, now available on our website, www.bedfordmahistory.org.

Among the most noteworthy of the Lane Family Papers are those documenting their transatlantic trade. Beginning the Job 1 Lane, the immigrant from England, and continuing through his great-grandsons Job 4 and John 4 Lane, the family received rents from an inherited property in England. Rather than having the rent sent to them in cash, they arranged for their agents in England to use the money to buy goods, usually various types of fabric, and have them shipped to Boston.

Listed below are the items that were sent. Many of the fabrics are of types unknown today. Definitions (in italics) for some have been taken from Every Day Life in the Massachusetts Bay Colony, by George Francis Dow, originally published in 1935 by the Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities. Reprinted in 1988 by Dover Publications, Inc.

Other than fabrics, the only items listed are Bibles and the last two volumes of a book by Matthew Henry, his Commentary on the Whole Bible. Presumably, only volumes 5 and 6 are requested because they are for a person who already owns the first four volumes. Would this be intended for one of the Lanes, or were the ordered for someone else? We will never know.

On occasion, the Papers mention that some of the fabrics are intended for use by the Lanes but for the most part they seem to have been intended for sale at a shop in Boston. Orders placed by Job 3 and John 3, and by Job 4 and John 4, specifically mention that the goods are to be left with a Boston merchant named Henry Deering and later with Thomas Deering, presumably Henry’s son.

After the 1780s, none of the Papers mention the transatlantic trade. This is perhaps explained by a letter written to Job 4 and John 4 by the rental agent in 1792: “Charles Fisher the Tenant at Edstone was with me yesterday and informs me that by the carelessness of his Opposite Neighbor throwing some hot Ashes upon the Dunghill which set fire to the straw and communicating with the Beast House Barn & they were soon reduced to a heap of ruins Four cows a stirk & 7 pigs were destroyed and the wind blowing hard from the south carried the fire across the street to Ch. Fishers House which was soon burnt to the ground with the stable and buildings by which misfortune he lost about 50 Quarters of oats some wheat and most of his Household Furniture and is now destitute of Harbour for himself and family... I apprehend it will cost about £200 to repair this loss.” The house and outbuildings on their rental property, which brought an annual rent of about £20, had burned down and replacements would cost about ten years’ rent. There would be no more profits to spend on the transatlantic trade.

This February’s cold wave brought a rare sight: Skaters on the Concord River. The ice was about six inches thick when this picture was taken.

The BEST/PTO Carnival, shown here, is becoming a Bedford tradition. The High School gymnasium was ringed with games for all ages. This year we represented the Society by operating the Plinko table. “Everyone wins at Plinko!”

Community outreach

We’ve recently opened our doors for several community events.

Our Open House on Pole Capping Day, April 10, brought us an estimated 60-80 eager visitors.

On May 11, Society member Bob Slechta conducted a tour of the Old Burying Ground for the Bedford Garden Club as they honored their outgoing president, Theresa Bluhm. Our thanks to Bob for doing the tour, and for donating his honorarium.

During April vacation week we held a Colonial Crafts afternoon for the kids. The room quickly filled with little folks, parents, and grandparents. Cloves were pressed into oranges for pomander balls. Bedford Flags were colored with crayons and markers. Aluminum foil was wrapped around paper plates and decorated to make "pewter" plates. Silhouettes were traced. Mob caps were cut and gathered with ribbons. Jamestown Plantation action figures endured massacres at the hands of little boys. Never mind the kids—we had a marvelous time!

Colonial Crafts at the Job Lane House, June 13, 2-4 PM

We had so much fun at our Colonial Crafts afternoon in April that we’ve decided to do it again. This time we’re partnering with the Friends of the Job Lane House. From 2 to 4 in the afternoon of Sunday, June 13, while costumed guides conduct tours of the house, we’ll offer Colonial Crafts in the barn.

The crafts event is free and open to all. House tours are $2 per person or $5 per family. The Job Lane House at 295 North Road offers plenty of parking. Gift shop in the barn.
