

Deacon Job Lane (3), Series III. Financial Matters

ID #	Date	Description	Comments
104	March 1, 1714/15	Receipt for payment by Job Lane to Mary Phillips	A simple receipt for £10 in partial payment. How do these two people know each other, and why was the payment made?
105	March 1, 1715	Receipt for sale of gloves to Job Lane for funeral of his father, signed by Joseph Belknap	Job has sent to Boston for gloves in connection with his father's funeral; not sure if these were for Job to wear or to give away. It was a colonial custom for a bereaved family to give mourning gloves, rings, and other tokens to the more important mourners
106	May 18, 1715	Receipt by John Bradish for payment by Job Lane from his father's estate	Job, as executor of his father's estate, has paid one of the legatees
107	June 24, 1715	Receipt for sale of gloves to Job Lane for funeral of his father, signed Benjamin Fitch	Job buys additional mourning gloves in Boston from Benjamin Fitch, a distant relative
108	July 25, 1718	Receipt , Ebenezer Wheeler to Job Lane, on account of Matthew Whipple of Ipswich	Job pays £3 to his kinsman, Matthew Whipple, with Ebenezer Wheeler as the go-between
101	December 18, 1757	Letter to Deacon Job Lane from Nathan [or Nathaniel] Danforth	Danforth is going to pay Job Lane the sum of £60. Written from Fort Edwards, Nova Scotia, which played a role in the French and Indian War
